the Wreck Saved from Fire by the Heroism of a Trainman-Destructive Tornado at Memphis.

CHARLESTON, Mo., Sept. 12.-Two men were killied and a score of people injured, half of them fatally, in a tornado here today, during which a train was blown from the track. Following are the names of the killed: PARMELIA DEMPSEY, Bertrand, Mo. FREDDIE M'CLELLAND, Eldorado, Ill. Among the score of injured only the following names could be secured:

COYLE, baggagemaster, badly JOHN DAVIS, Eldorado, Ill., leg broken. W. DEXTER, Centertown, O. H. DECAMP, Hamilton, O., head

D. LEMING, Alton Pass, Ill. W. HESTEF:, Moorehouse, Mo., G. W. HUMPHREY, Loray, Mo., arm Mrs. McCULLOM, arm broken.

Mrs. McCULLOM, arm broken. C. H. MILLER, Corning, Ark., badly It was about 3 o'clock this afternoon when the west-bound express on the Cairo branch of the Iron Mountain road was struck by the hurricane, and the result was one of the most serious wrecks ever known on the system. The train, in charge of conduct r Jack Lower and engineer Andy Holld, nad just reached the limits of the city when the passengers and crew noticed the approach of the funnel-shaped cloud that was dealing destruction to everything in its path, uprooting large trees and hurling missiles before it. The train and tornado met and the wind lifted the entire coaches and landed them at a distwenty feet from the track, them completely who were not hurt hastened to free themselves and those who were not so fortunate. Efforts were being made in this direction new danger presented itself.

Flames were seen in the rear of the train, and only for the heroic action of brakeman Cartwell an even worse catastrophe might have been recorded. He hastily secured a heavy piece of timber and battered down the door of the car, rushed in and succeeded in extinguishing the fire with hand grenades. Near by were a woman and little child, whose clothing had ignited, and, hastily catching them up, he succeeded in smothering the fire, but not until the clothing of each was almost destroyed. A little boy about three years old was found under He is supposed to have fallen out of the window when the train was overturned. The body was badly mangled. Near by was a negro cabin, which was converted into a hospital, where attention was shown the wounded by the citizens and the rallroad men. Among those deserving mention for special efforts are Austin Ball, roadmaster; Jack Lower, conductor, and J. S. Green, local agent, who were energetic in relieving the sufferers.

Aside from the train and its passengers the damage done by the tornado, which seems to have been purely locat, was slight. Its path was not over thirty yards wide and did not extend more that a mile.

TORNADO AT MEMPHIS. Negro Killed and Several Buildings

Damaged. MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 12 .- A portion of North Memphis was swept by a tornado to-day at 11:30 a. m., destroying and damaging property to the amount of $3,500, killing one negro, Robert Culp, and injuring two other persons slightly. The portion of the city visited is the seat of the lumber mills, and the chief damage suffered fell upon three of them, as follows: N. W. Speer, jr., & Co., mills unroofed, smokestacks down and a large amount of lumber carried away; Anderson, Tully & Co. stacks down, factory unroofed, blacksmith shop and pump-house blown down and their heading department wrecked; Hardwood Lumber Company, sawmill unroofed, boiler walls wrecked, stacks blown down and much lumber carried away. Robert Culp, an assistant fireman employed by Hardwood company, in his frightened fort to seek a place of safety, was caught beneath a falling smokestack and killed. One hundred yards of the Wolf river bridge of the Chesapcake, Ohio & Southern siding was picked up intact and thrown one hundred feet away. In addition to this work of destruction many shantles of negroes in the neighborhood were unroofed or wholly wrecked, and the Ebenezer colored Baptist church was damaged. The tornado came from the south and traveled almost due north, and it is said by the weather bureau to have been purely local, no warning having been received of its approach. Conan's cotton gin mills, north of Memphis, were partly unroofed..

Governor O'Ferrall Writes Again. RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 12.-In declining an invitation to address the Afro-American Press Association, now in session here, Governor O'Ferrall says he "would not think of a cepting an invitation to address any convention or assembly that indorses, as your corvention did last evening, the course of Miss Ida Wells, in her slanders of the people and civil authorities of the South I condemn lynch law as much as any one, and as long as I am Governor of Virginia every man, whether white or black, whatever the charge against him may be, shall have a trial by judge and jury, if I have to exert all the powers given me by the Constitution and laws of Virginia, and should any case of lynchnig occur I shall endeavor to enforce the law

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.-The directors of the Western Union Telegraph Company today declared the regular quarterly dividend of 114 per cent., payable Oct. 16 to stock-holders of record Sept. 20. The statement for the quarter ending Sept. 30, partly esti-mated, shows net revenue $1,800,000. De-ducting interest and sinking fund charges of $243,500, also $550,000 for the purchase of the American Rapid Telegraph Company. leaves a balance of $1,006,500, less dividend of $1.192,000, and makes the deficit of the quarter $185,500, which, being deducted from

EXTRAVAGANT HOKE SMITH RUNS AGAINST AN OHIO BOWLER.

He Orders a $500 Set of Harness, but the Cruel Controller of the Treasury Refuses to Pay the Bill.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. - Secretary Hoke Smith, the Sancho Panza of President Cleveland's Cabinet, has run up against a competitor before whom even the doughty Don Quixote would have lowered his lance, to say nothing of his 'squire. Some time ago Mr. Smith, who rides in a government carriage, drawn by a government horse, determined that he needed a new set of harness. He ordered a set of harness such as he deemed suitable to the dignity of the high office whose incumbent the harness would serve. When high government officials want anything they simply send out and get it. The government does the rest. That is, generally. But in this case it would seem that there is an obstacle in the shape of one Bowler, one Robert B. Bowler, to-wit, of Ohio. This man Bowler seems to be a most ordinary man with no soul for harness commensurate with the dignity of weighty government officials. But an unkind fate has made Mr. Bowler the First Controller of the Treasury, and, until he approves an account against the government, no matter how high the authority that incurred the expenditure, that account don't go. Mr. Bowler doesn't like Mr. Smith and he refuses to pass the bill for Mr. Smith's new harness, which bill, by the way, amounted to some $500. Mr. Bowler holds that Mr. Smith might have himself hauled around town by the government's horse and in the government's carriage with a less expensive set of harness. He flatly refuses to audit the bill and the harness-maker is looking ruefully to Secretary Smith for his

New government officials and fresh government officials who become reckless in spending the government's money for their private conveniences sooner or later have an encounter with this odius Bowler, the First Controller of the Treasury. And they learn then that the First Controller of the Treasury is no small potatoes. Like the coroner of England, who is higher than the Queen, the First Controller of the Treasury is higher than everybody else in the world. His ruling under the statutes is supreme. There is no appeal from his decision. The Supreme Court of the United States has decided that no moneys can be paid on any draft or warrant without his approval. Congress may pass laws, but the First Controller can nullify them by refusing to pay the appropriation those laws carry. An instance will be remem-bered when a Controller of the Treasury decided that the law passed by Congress increasing the pay of the members of the Marine Band was faultily drawn and he refused to be ruled by it. Against this dreadful person has Mr. Hoke Smith, the centaur of the Cabinet, steered full tilt. There is no doubt as to the result. Sooner or later Mr. Smith must humbly ask Mr. Bowler what he thinks is the proper thing in harness for a Secretary of the Interior, and then Mr. Smith, being a man of high honor, will go down into the privy purse and pay out to the harness maker the difference between his ideas of a suitable harness for a Secretary of the Interior and

Wages of Printers Increased. WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.-The president and secretary of Columbia Typographical Union, of this city, have been informally notified that Secretary Morton, prior to his departure for Europe, increased the wages of the union printers employed in the branch printing office in the Department of Agriculture, to conform to the union scale, complaint having been made to the union. It is said at the Department of Agriculture that the Secretary does not propose to recognize any private organization or combination in connection with the government work and will not answer the union's letter. Members of the typographical union say they are not very much concerned at this attitude of the Secretary as long as their men receive the same treatment and same terms which is accorded by the officials of the Government Printing Office and other branch omces in the city.

Sugar Bounty Payments Repudiated. WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 .- Secretary Carlisle, although he has not yet written a formal letter to that effect, authorized the official announcement to-day that he would not pay any sugar bounty earned but unpaid when the new tariff bill went into effect Aug. 29. The Secretary's refusal to pay these sugar bounty claims will be based upon the clause in the new tariff bill repealing the sugar bounty provision of the McKinley law, which concludes as follows: "And hereafter it shall be unlawful to issue any license to produce sugar or to pay any bounty for the production of sugar of any kind under said act." The Secretary will write an official letter to Senator Manderson embodying his decision.

Praise for Naval Officers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 .- Acting Secretary of the Navy McAdoo to-day gave the following statement to the press: "The situation at Bluefields is such that our naval officers on duty there are liable to be misunderstood and have injustice done them at the hands of American residents. Up to this date the conduct of Captains Sumner and O'Neil has been in accordance with their instructions and is highly satisfactory to the department." The nature of these instructions has not been made pub-

He received his final instructions and left here to-night for New York, whence he will sail for Europe. Losses by Fire.

ANTIGO, Wis., Sept. 12.-The depot, postoffice, general store and sawmill of Wunderluch Bros., together with several million feet of lumber and two hundred cords of wood, were burned this morning at Elmhurst, a little village six miles south of this place. The loss cannot yet be correctly given, as the fire is still burning. CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The Arch Fair building, Nos. 436 and 438 Sixty-third street, burned to-day. Loss, $80,000.

Double Tragedy in Illinois. LINCOYN, Ill., Sept. 12.-The dead bodies of Isaac Wolcott and his wife. Narcissa, were found to-day at their home near Chestnut, this county. The couple lived unhappily together, and on Monday the wife filed a bill for divorce. At the time of leaving home she went to her mother's with her three children. Infidelity, cruelty and profanity were charged. Wolcott was very wealthy and high spirited, and it is supposed that, smarting under the disgrace and trouble, he murdered his wife and committed suicide.

Saloon Keepers Not Barred.

DAYTON, O., Sept. 12.—Most of the closing day's session of the Ohio Council of Catholic Knights of America was given to a heated discussion upon a proposed amendment to the constitution of the order excluding saloon keepers, bartenders and distillers from the order, which was defeated. Rev. Father Myers, of Cincinnati, represented the Catholic saloon keepers, and Rev. Father Graham made the fight for the

FUNERAL OF AN EXILE

REMAINS OF THE COMTE DE PARIS PUT IN A VAULT AT WEYBRIDGE.

The Ceremonies Witnessed by Nearly All the Notable Royalists of France and Many English Aristocrats.

LONDON, Sept. 12.-The remains of the Comte de Paris, the exiled heir to the throne of France, were placed in a vault at Weybridge, Surrey, to-day. Yesterday the body lay in state in the marble hall of the exile's late home, Stowe House, and it was viewed by many persons. Early this morning throngs of people passed up and down the splendid avenue of trees leading to Stowe House. They were of all classes and degrees, of nearly all nationalities and creeds. French and English mingled with Germans and Americans, rich and poor elbowed each other, the deeply subdued royalists of France followed behind the tourist of many lands, all bent upon reaching the same goal-the marble hall, draped with violet velvet, besprinkled with fleur de lis, in which rested the mortal remains of the descendant of a long line of kings of France. Few were admitted, however.

The arrangements for the funeral were completed, when, shortly after sunrise, a hearse drawn by six superb Flemish horses arrived from London and was slowly driven to the secluded portion of the grounds, there to wait until summoned to the entrance of Stowe House in order to convey the body of the Comte on its way towards Weybridge. The early trains from London also brought to Datford hundreds of notable people, and a very much greater number of people attracted to Stowe House out of curiosity or by the desire to pay a tribute of respect to the illustrious dead. The notabilities who went to Stowe House this morning included official or unofficial representatives of nearly all the nations of the world and gathered there, during the day, were princes and princesses representing nearly every reigning family in Europe. From London, some time previously, a hand-some funeral train had arrived, somberly inside and out, darkly impressive. With it came a detachment of troops to line the route from Stowe House. An almost countless number of floral wreaths arrived at Stowe House yesterday and this morning, many of them being conveyed there by special messengers from Paris and other parts of France. Among the latter was a magnificent floral wreath eight feet in diameter, and composed of lilies, roses and orchids, attached to which was a tri-color bow, sent by Baron Al-phonse De Rothschild. Another very handsome tribute of flowers was sent by Mrs. George B. McClellan, widow of General

McClellan, upon whose staff the Comte De

Paris served for a time during the civil war in the United States. The family of the Comte De Paris assembled around the bier about 6 a. m., and at 7 a. m. the bell of the private chapel was tolled, calling the relatives of the dead to attend mass, which was celebrated by Father Cafferata, a personal friend of the deceased. At 7:45 the casket, covered with a pall of violet velvet, over which was the tri-color flag of France, was removed from the marble hall to the hearse. Then the princes, all in evening dress, took places, according to their rank, behind the Duc d'Orleans, eldest son of the dead man, who acted as chief mourner. Behind the princes followed a mourning carriage containing the Comtesse De Paris, the Queen of Portugal (her eldest daughter), Princess Helen of Orleans, and the Duchesse De Montpensier. After this carriage followed others, in which were other ladies of the royal family of France. Behind the vehicles were the carriages, with shades down, of many noble families of England, and after them marched a procession of villagers and dependents. The casket was placed in the funeral train amid profound silence. The funeral train reached Weybridge at noon, and the procession marched from the railroad station to the old church where the remains of the Duchesse De Nemours, aunt of the Comte De Paris, are buried. The body was met at the door by the Bishop of Southwark, in violet canonicals, attended by the minor clergy. The religious ceremonies were very solemn and impressive, and after they had been concluded the casket was borne round to the rear of the building, where it was deposited in a vault. It is still believed that after a proper time has elapsed the remains of the Comte De Paris, by permission of the French government, will be transferred to Dreux, where rest the bodies of Louis Philippe and his wife. After the vault was closed the ladies returned to Stowe House and the Duc d'Orleans, accompanied by a number of friends, went to London, where he held a reception at the Grosvenor Hotel, which was attended by all the visiting royalists. The reception commenced punctually at 5 o'clock, and it was estimated that the young Duc received fully one thousand Frenchmen. When the assemblage was complete the Duc d'Orleans addressed the Royalists in a firm, solemn voice, saying: "It is with sorrowful emotion that I receive the homage of your devotion and I thank you for it. Your presence not only testifies your respect and attachment to him we have lost; but it also proves your fidelity to the principle of a national and traditional monarchy, of which I am the representative and whereof he transmitted to me the heritage. Fortified by your aid and by that of absent friends who, from all parts of France, have already sent me the expression of their devotion and making appeal to all men of heart, I will fill, without faltering, the mission which falls to me.' At the conclusion of this manifesto the Duc d'Orleans cordially thanked and kissed his father's councilors and addressed a few words of thanks and sympathy to nearly every individual member of the royalist gathering. Prof. Von Helmholz's Funeral. BERLIN, Sept. 12.-The funeral of Prof. Hermann von Helmholz, who died on Saturday last, took place to-day and was largely attended. Conspicuous among the assemblage were men prominent in the scientific world. Emperor William and his mother, Empress Frederick, were represented at the ceremonies. Wreaths to be every country in Europe.

CORNER IN TIN.

French and Dutch Speculators Manipulating the Market. LONDON, Sept. 12.-The Times says: Despite the ignominious failure of the syndicate which engineered the corner in tin in 1887, another combination of French and Dutch speculators is now trying to obtain control of the tin market. It is asserted that they already hold about 16,000 tons of tin, but the actual quantity is thought to be nearer 12,000 tons. The low price of tin has apparently induced the formation of a corner. The prospect of a revival in trade, with a large expansion in consumption, is also a strong attraction, as it is known that stocks in the United States have fallen to a low level, being under 1,000 tons, compared with 10,000 tons in 1887. The purchases of the combination have already caused a rise of £6 a ton, and its members would gain £120,000 if they could find buyers for their stocks. They have hoped that America would be obliged to have recourse to the European markets, but they are likely to be disappointed, as

Interview with the Russian Minister of Finance. BERLIN, Sept. 12 .- An interview with M. De Witte, the Russian Minister of Finance, is, according to representatives of the German and Austrian press at Abbazia, causing a sensation in Europe. The utterances of the Russian Minister are regarded as a hopeful sign of peace. In the interview, Witte declared that it was never Russia's intention to transform Bulgaria into a Russian province, and he dwelt upon the pacific intentions of the Czar, saying: "During the past six years the danger of war has frequently arisen, but the Czar's will alone maintained peace. During these years he has not delivered a single speech or made a single remark which alluded in any way to the possibility of war. On the other hand, the bellicose speeches of other monarchs must be remembered. How often has Russia heard warlike threats; but the Czar never answered. He is his own master and his will is absolute. He has to reckon with no parliament. But never since 1870 has peace been so secure and the European situation so reassuring as at present. I see no possible danger of complica-tions." M. De Witte said that since the cial treaty the situation of affairs in Russia had materially improved and peace was finally consolidated.

Executed Without Trial. LONDON, Sept. 12.-A dispatch to a news concern from Montevideo asserts that fiftythree Brazilians were executed by order of President Pelxoto, on April 25 last. The executions took place in the fortress of Santa Cruz. The condemned men had no trial. Among the number were military and naval officers whose names are given in the dispatch, commencing with that of Marshal Almeda Da Gama. In addition to these the dispatch further says, a number of persons were shot at Curitaba without warrant, save the order of Peixoto. It is also reported that many prisoners were killed by being thrown from precipices from along the Paranagua railway, among them being Senhor Luis Thurat, a federal deputy who was a distinguished writer and who returned to Brazil from Buenos Ayres under a guarantee that his life would be spared.

The Czar a Very Sick Man. VIENNA, Sept. 12 .- News received from St. Petersburg indicates that the Czar's illness is cerebral, complicated with an ailment of the kidneys. Prayers for his recovery have been ordered twice at the court. When the Czar went to Bjelovess he made the journey on a bed. Upon arriving at Bjelovess he was carried from the railway station to his chateau. His Majesty's tall, robust frame is shrinking. He is mentally depressed. His usual serenity has left him and he is taciturn with the members of his family. He gets tired after the shortest period of work. His stay in the desert is reported to have been very beneficial.

Mania of a Spanish Duke. MADRID, Sept. 12.-The Duke of San Carlos, gentleman of the bedchamber of the King of Spain, whose suicide was announced yesterday, had a mania for believing that he was unable to attain moral perfection. On Saturday last he returned to Madrid from the palace of La Granja, where his wife is lady in waiting upon the Infanta Isabella. On Monday the Duke attended mass and took the sacrament. He then returned home, locked himself in the bath room, knelt on the floor and shot himself through the head with a revolver.

Cissy Loftus and Huntley McCarthy. PARIS, Sept. 12.-Huntley McCarthy, son of the leader of the anti-Parnellite section of the Irish parliamentary party, who recently married Cissy Loftus, a star of the London Music Hall, has, together with his wife, entered into a three years' engagewith Augustine theatrical manager. Mrs. McCarthy will play ingenue roles in Mr. Daly's productions, while McCarthy will fill the position of translator and adaptor.

Zola Scored by the Pope. ROME, Sept. 12.-The annual encyclical of the Rosary was issued to-day. It refers indirectly to Zola and Signor Bovio. The Pope states that devotion to the Rosary is now more necessary since faith in the Virgin has been brought into derision by the impious, and the divinity of Christ is the object in Italy of theatrical performances, which even palliate the crime of Judas Is-

MAY CAUSE TROUBLE

SENSATIONAL MANIFESTO ISSUED BY BRECKINRIDGE'S MANAGERS.

Supporters of Owens Denounced in Bitter Terms for Not Agreeing to Abide by Result of Primaries.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 12 .- The most sensational manifesto ever issued in the political history of Kentucky was given out by the Breckinridge people to-night. The Owens men claim that they will not abide by what they term the Breckinridge "gag law," and predict bloodshed. The card is dated "Breckinridge Organization Headquarters, Lexington, Ky., Sept. 12." It is addressed to the Democratic voters of the Ashland district, and reads as follows:

"The district committee, by its action on last Saturday, has effectually blocked the brace game which the expert candidate from Scott and his organization have been preparing to play in the approaching primary. For the first time in Kentucky, a contestant for a Democratic nomination. driven to desperation by the demonstrated strength of his opponent, has shamelessly allowed it to be proclaimed through his mouthpieces everywhere that participation in the primary involved no obligation in honor to support the nominee if he should be that opponent. It was never contem-plated by the party authorities before that such double dealing was possible, or that it should be necessary to guard the party organization against such treachery, but when this proclamation of dishonor was made the district committee at once met it, as honest men, jealous of the fair fame of the great organization committed to their keeping, and by their resolution of the 8th inst., have made it impossible for any man, except a perjurer, to have a voice in the selection of a candidate while meditating in any event treachery to the Democratic party. 'With that reckless denunciation of all who cross the path of his ambition, and that effrontery which has marked his whole canvass, Mr. Owens and his followers have impugned the honor of the committee, have denounced its members as cowards and tools, while in the same breath, and with an inconsistency born only of mad desperation, they proclaim themselves satisfied with the situation, admit that the committee's action is simply the enforcement of a rule recognized as an integral party law, and endeavor to assure themselves and the public that its application will work to their advantage. If it be right that no man should take part in the selection of a candidate unless he intends to submit his own individual preferences to the will of the party; if it be only fair that no man should be allowed to play a game 'of heads, I win; tails, you lose; if it be simply just that he who submits his claim to his party's action should, in good faith, abide the result of that submission; if it be true that every Democrat can trust his political conscience to the aggregate judgment of his party fairly and honestly ascertained-why do the reckless defamers of the chosen leaders and guardians of the party denounce that action whose only effect is to make sure these principles and protect them in their integrity against the treachery so openly threatened?

Like all men foiled in a contemplated wrong, they charge as evidence of their opponent's weakness what is a sure index of its strength. None is deceived by this, for no one considers it a proof of weakness to bar the door against a burglar of whose visit warning has been given, or to place your pocketbook where it will be safe against the pickpocket.

"We announce to the voters of this district our assured conviction that this race is now won; that the fair ballot which is assured by the committee's action will result in the overwhelming success of Colonel Breckinridge, and we call upon all who are interested in the maintenance of the true Democratic faith to see to it by proper challenges that only true Democrats particpate in this party contest.

"We call attention to the provisions of the law which requires that when a voter is challenged for the absence of any of the qualifications prescribed by the committee he must be sworn, and, on his oath and subject to the penalties imposed for per-jury, show himself to be possessed those qualifications, which defined by the committee are (1) That he shall be a legal voter; (2) a Democrat known as such by party affiliation, and (3) having an intention in good faith to support whomsoever the party authorities, declare to be the party nominee. The reapublished in the Neue Freie Presse, M. De son for calling attention to this is emphasized by the fact that nowhere, and under no circumstances has Mr. Owens announced in plain and unequivocal terms his purpose to abide the result of the primary, but on the contrary, in his recent address to his followers, while urging them to the polls, he fails to intimate that it is either their duty or his purpose to do so in the event of his own defeat, which he feels to be already assured.'

PROMOTER ARRESTED

ALGERNON H. WILCOX IN JAIL AT NEW YORK.

He Is Said to Have Been Engaged in

Schemes and to Have Secured

Large Sums of Money.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.-The World this morning contains a three-column expose of the methods of Algernon H. Wilcox, a Western land promoter, with headquarters at Philadelphia. It is said Wilcox has succeeded in getting men to invest at least $1,500,000 in his projects. One of the thirty clergymen induced to invest by a glittering prospectus was Rev. George Stanbery, an Episcopal clergyman, formerly from Lexington, Ky., but now dead. Stanbery is a son of Henry Stanbery, Attorney-general in President Johnson's Cabinet. From him Wilcox is said to have obtained $30,000. Wilcox is credited with being concerned in many schemes. He arrived in New York about a week ago, and was located Sunday in a furnished room up town. He made an appointment to meet a friend at the St. Denis Hotel this morning, and was there arrested and removed to Ludlow-street jail. He declined to explain his side of the Stanbery transactions, but it is understood that even the heirs to that property admit that the great majority of the real-estate transactions of the Philadelphia promoter were open and honorable, and that for these he cannot be punished. They claim, however, that they will be able to hold him upon certain of the Wilcox patent medicine company transactions and some of his many Western lands.

His Career in the West. MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 12.-The name of Algernon H. Wilcox, whose extensive swindling operations are reported from New York, appears in the Minneapolis directory as vice president of the Railroad Building and Loan Association, with offices in the New York Life Building. At that office today it was learned that Wilcox was not an active member of the association, and that he held the office of vice president for about two years, during which time he had only been in the office once. His headquarters were said to be in Chicago. The story of his addition to the town of Benson, in Swift county, Minnesota, is as follows: About eight years ago he bought some eight or ten acres of land adjoining the town of Benson for little or nothing. Arranging with certain parties to act as "cappers," he started for the East, locating in Palladelphia, where he soon established what was known as the Bensonhurst Park Improvement Company. The ground bought near Benson he had cut up into building lots, eight and ten to the acre, which he offered to the unsuspecting public for the moderate price of $100 per lot. His scheme was to secure from $10 to $25 as a first payment and the balance in monthly installments. He is said to have sold nearly all of those lots, making a profit of from $15,-000 to $20,000.

Warrants for City Officials, OMAHA. Neb., Sept. 12.—Warrants were issued to-day for the arrest of members of the Omaha Board of Public Works and Mayor for contempt in refusing to obey the district court's order to have city garbage properly disposed of. The trial will occur to-morrow.
